Workshop 39

Research Cultures in Local and Global Contexts: the Field of Adult Education

Prof. Dr. Wolfgang Jütte | Prof. Henning Salling Olesen

It is evident that research cultures in European adult education vary significantly both from country to country and within the countries themselves. Adult education is to a great extent embedded in local, regional and national contexts and shaped by historical, cultural and linguistic variables. There are considerable differences concerning

- areas regulated by educational police
- the extent of university involvement and the role of academia
- the relationship between professions and disciplines
- prevailing theoretical and methodological paradigms and areas of reference.

This workshop, which is organized in cooperation with the European Society for Research on the Education of Adults (ESREA), aims to trace various research cultures in European adult education. Two fields of issues in particular will be investigated:

- The influence of international und European agendas of learning policy and practice on national traditions
- Changes in relationships and the openness to dialogue in cultures of research, e.g. through cooperation and networks.

Through a critical dialogue on the panel, European scientific cooperation and its consequences for research will be examined.
