Dear ESREA member,

Our third newsletter for 2017 arrives in tandem with Autumn here in Sweden. Like in many other parts around Europe, term has started which tend to imply a busy schedule for the most of us. However, I do hope that you’ll have the time to take part in some of the manifold of ESREA activities organised across Europe for the academic year. We have an existing year ahead.

Another anticipated announcement I’d like to share with all of you is that we are soon launching a new website which we hope will facilitate locating any information desired regarding our networks, publications, conference, and other related activities. Moreover, with the advent of the new website ESREA will also increase our presence on various social media platforms in order to disseminate information about anything ESREA related. More information about this will be included in the next newsletter.

For any inquiries, suggestions or concerns, please don’t hesitate to drop me an email.

Best wishes,

Robert Aman
Linköping University, Sweden
Secretary of ESREA

‘Academic Writing’ — A weekend for PhD-students and Post-Docs to unfold writing effectively, Villa Ingrid, Weimar, Germany

Since publishing is of such central relevance for academic careers, we dedicate this weekend to produce good output quickly: by doing it together, in a highly activating working atmosphere, through guided writing sessions and workshops. This tough but very rewarding workshop will be facilitated by Ingrid Scherübl and Katja Günther in English, but you can of course write in any language you want. For more info: www.management-akademie-weimar.de/veranstaltungen-2/
